AT BROADWAY THEATER.

Brewster's Millions.

There was a return to the first class at the Broadway theater on Thursday evening and a large audience greatly enjoyed the presentation by Frederick Thompson of Robert Ober and a clever company in the dramatization of Brewster's Millions by Winchell Smith and Byron Orgley.

It is a bright comedy, and in all four acts the story of a young man getting rid of money in every conceivable manner, to such an extent that his oldest friends believe him crazy, serves to keep the attention on Robert Ober in the title role and his frenzied finance. It was necessary for him to dispose of a million in order to keep the stock market on the race track. What he picked to lose appeared to win for a time, but he finally got the proper alloy and ended up with a million in receipts instead of dollars. Through it all, of course, runs a pretty love story which ends satisfactorily. Robert Ober has plenty to do in this pleasing comedy and he does it thoroughly good, while his work delighted and he received numerous curtain calls. Playing opposite him was May Talbot as Peggy and she was thoroughly good, while Sumner Gard, Louis Kimball, Joseph Woodburn, Warren Rogers, Emily Lytton, Leora Moore, Grace Arnold and Ivin Benton added to the success of the play.

The piece was finely staged and particularly interesting was the yacht scene in which the audience was kept busy picking out the many features and watching for the next to appear, so enthusiastic did they get over the lighted houses on the shore beyond, the signals and storm. It was a particularly pretty scene.

88TH BIRTHDAY

Observed by Benjamin Cross on Thursday—Oldest in His Family.

Today finds Benjamin Cross, No. 10 Union street, celebrating his 88th birthday, and enjoying the birthday which will bring many of his friends to offer their congratulations.

He was born in Norfolk, Litchfield county, in this state, and was the eldest of the nine children of Benjamin C. Cross and Susan Cross. When he was old enough to learn a trade, he took up blacksmithing and in a year or so opened a shop. He lived for a while at Plainfield when a young man and attended school there. He was a railroad clerk at Danielson for some time, and then moved to Worcester, where he learned the carpenter's trade, which he has pursued while living here. He came to this city in 1859.

Mr. Cross was joined in marriage January 28, 1848, in Worcester, to Miss Harriet Newell Golding, daughter of Charles Golding, who was then superintendent of the Slater mills at North Webster, Mass. Rev. George Bushnell of Worcester, Mass., performed the ceremony. There were three children, two of whom are living, John, of Chelsea, superintendent of the Lenox oil plant, and Miss Harriet G. Cross, who resides with her father.

Brothers of Mr. Cross living are Courtland Cross of Worcester, Edward of Cleveland and Albert of Terrville, and the sisters living are Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington and Miss Catherine Tuft of Worcester, Mass.

Norwich People There.

The food sale and bazaar held in Palmer Memorial hall Wednesday night under auspices of the ladies' aid society of Union Baptist church, Montville, brought out a large attendance, the sale being remarkably successful and profitable. The chicken supper was a great feature and none was left at the close of proceedings. The sale was well patronized by friends of the church from Norwich, Uncasville, and Montville Center. Among those present were Rev. H. A. and Mrs. Arnold of Norwich, Rev. Mr. Arnold being visiting pastor of Montville Center Congregational church.

Norwich Passengers Among Injured

Willimantic Electric Thrown from Rails by Broken Axle Above South Windham on Dugway Hill—Line Blocked for the Night, Car Going Into Ditch.

Going down Dugway Hill, in South Windham, at 6 o'clock Thursday night, a car bound for Willimantic with forty passengers aboard left the track and pitched down an embankment into a sandy ditch. The accident was caused, it is said, by the breaking of an axle. The front of the car landed in a sandy bed, the passengers all being pitched forward, while the rear of the car rested across the track, blocking traffic for the night.

All of the passengers were more or less injured by the sudden shock, which almost completely stripped the car of its seats. Leander Austin of Willimantic was the most severely injured, with his right wrist fractured and a rib broken. Others who received attention from Dr. John Weldon and Dr. O'Neil, surgeon at St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic, who came down to the wreck in an automobile, were: John Robinson, 22 years old, of 435 South Windham street, head injured; Ambrose Osborn, 31, of Cedar street, Norwich, nervous attack following shaking up; John T. Powers, 28, Boston, right knee sprained; William Baldwin, 24, Willimantic, head injured; James Mitchell, 25, Elizabeth, N. J., left leg injured; Patrick Looney, 25, Willimantic, contusions about the neck; J. A. Bostock, 34, Boston, left elbow and ribs injured. Mr. Austin was taken to St. Joseph's hospital by the doctors.

The car left Franklin square at 4:45 o'clock in charge of Motorman Church and Conductor Abell, leaving South Windham at 5:3. The car jumped the track beyond South Windham and about two miles from Willimantic while going down the straight track on Dugway Hill. The car fortunately did not turn over. The car crew escaped without injury.

The wrecking car in charge of Foreman Ogden was sent from the Greenfield depot to the scene of the accident, but it was too late to get to the site and little could be done with ordinary wrecking apparatus. A work car loaded with ties will be sent up at 6 o'clock and morning and the car will be placed on the rails.

Trolley traffic will be unimpaired today, as during the night one of the South Coventry line cars was taken across the railroad tracks at Willimantic by Inspector R. B. Ladd and will be used for a transfer car until the line is clear.

Passengers bound for Willimantic were notified on Franklin square Thursday evening that the cars were not running to Willimantic, so that none were held up there.

INCREASING INTEREST

IN EVANGELISTIC MEETING

Dr. Ormer Proved a Strong and Convincing Speaker.

The attendance at the evangelistic services at Zion Methodist church is rapidly increasing. The sermons of the Rev. Mr. Ormer are drawing large crowds. He is a able Bible scholar, ar and an earnest, plain, forceful speaker. He is small in stature, but possesses a wonderful voice which he has under excellent control. His sermon Thursday night, "The Power of Faith" was the best he has preached this week and was well received by his audience. He stirred his audience with his words, and his message was a real status of affairs in the south. Tonight he will preach on "The Woes of the Drunkard, and The Citizen's Responsibility."

This afternoon at four o'clock he will conduct a service especially for children.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Margaret Lamphere.

On Thursday morning about 2 o'clock the death of Mrs. Margaret Lamphere occurred at the Sheltering Arms. She had been ill for some time with a complication of troubles and had been at the home for about six years. She was born in New York 16 years ago, her maiden name being Margaret Hook. She was twice married. She was a member of the First Baptist church and possessed a kind and sympathetic disposition. She was the last of her family.

Harry C. Ewen.
The death of Harry C. Ewen occurred at his home, No. 28 Maple street, on Thursday morning at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, after a long illness. He had been employed at Hopkins & Allen's arm factory, but was obliged to give it up because of his health. He has lived here but a few years. Besides his father he leaves a sister, his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Babcock, two aunts and a great uncle, all of this city.

FUNERALS.

Emil R. Gerber.

At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon the funeral of Emil R. Gerber was held from his late home, No. 25 Baltic street. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Lewellyn Pratt, pastor of the Broadway Congregational church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and handsome floral remembrances. The bearers were William Blackburn, Jacob Metzger, Frederick Gerul and George Zimmerman. Burial was in Yantic cemetery, where a committal service was read. Funeral Director Gager was in charge of the arrangements.

Attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gerber of New Britain, Mr. Emilius Burdick, Mrs. B. C. Champlin, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Burdick of Providence, and Rudolph Gerber of Torrington.

SALE AND BAZAAR

Given by Young People's Society at German Lutheran Church.

A well attended Christmas sale and bazaar was given Thursday evening by the Young People's society in the Sunday school room of the German Lutheran church, which had been prettily decorated in red and green by Herman Steinger, John Laskowski and Miss Edna Zander. There were prizes and useful things offered at the different booths arranged about the room, and all found a good sale. There were 20 Santa Claus pictures, 100 cards, 100 to have another sale of these on Saturday evening. The following had charge: Aprons and domestic goods, Miss Clara Zahn and Miss Tony Hampton; home made candy, Miss Edna Rosell, Eda Jatkowsky and Frieda Krause; dolls and fancy work, Miss Elia Bauck and Miss Alma Bauck; ice cream, cake and soft drinks, William Bolts, Otto Zahn and Arthur Grodzke.

WHIST PARTY

Held at Home of Mrs. W. F. Bogue Under Spiritual Academy Auspices.

An evening of whist followed by a social hour under the auspices of the Spiritual Academy, furnished a delightful entertainment to a company of between 25 and 30 at the home of Mrs. William F. Bogue, on Broad street, Thursday evening. Stables were played. Those to take the first prizes were E. R. Tuttle, an embroidered towel ball, and Mrs. J. C. Stone, a Maxcan drawn work dress. The prizes of consolation went to Edward Andrews and Mrs. Louise Miner. Coffee and cake were served. Another whist was announced for next week, with Mrs. James Johnson on Washington square.

Stripping Old Dye Mill.

Little will remain after this week in the old dye mill in Uncasville. Supt. Frank B. Mitchell of the Keyes Process company and Ivan Chapman have emptied the last of the big vats and they will be raised and rolled out of the upper story and moved to their destination in the woolen mill in Palmerstown, where the flooring has been prepared to receive them. The last bit of material was raised this week, taking in the balance of the raw material. Probably today will be the last that steam will be under the boiler, and it will be removed by the Bigelow-Harriman Construction Co., and if possible, used in the new plant by the river.

Incidents in Society

The Fortnightly was entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Nathan G. Gilbert of Broad street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight H. Hough of Warren street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gertrude C. Hough, to Mr. Arthur H. Patterson of Chicago, Ill.

HAILE CLUB SOCIAL.

What the Medium of Entertainment—Prizes Won.

The regular social evening at the Haile club on Thursday had a programme of what conducted by the social committee and the social director, Miss Mary Richards, through which all attending had a delightful time. The following were the prize awards: First, an enameled pin, Miss Dora Walsh; second, a basket, Miss Nellie Harrington; third, a chapter, Miss Mollie James; fourth, a silver pendant, Miss Madeline Risher; fifth, a bottle of cologne, Miss Alice Walsh; sixth, an amethyst heart pendant, Miss Mary McCrohan; seventh, a lace bow, Miss Mae Rogers; eighth, a linen jabot, Miss Margaret Walsh. There were nine tables playing.

Michael Idvorsky Pupin, known as the inventor of wireless telephony and who, according to report, received $60,000 for an invention which is used in long distance telephoning, worked his way through Columbia college.
